PROGRAM: "How to Talk Politics." Our guest is Marc Meyer, Director of Operations at the National Conflict Resolution Center (NCRC), presented a thought-provoking program on civil discussions of political issues. Introduced Robin Z, and Mr Meyer, his father, a Republican. Program was recorded. Marc had us role play the process of listening with respect and curiosity.

Take aways: Tips for Dialogue

*Let go of believing that you own the only truth about the situation.

*Ask yourself: how can I say what I want to tell them in a way that they can hear it?

*Work on trying to be thoughtful instead of trying to prove you are right.

*Do what you can to really listen to the other person. As much as possible, show genuine curiosity about what let them to their opinion of the situation.

*Take time to ground yourself before talking to the person.
